Editor's Note.

Editor's Note.

There are many purchesers of War Stamps of which there is no record. These have purchased stamps independently of the committees, and therefore there is no record of their names or the amount of their purchases. In a former issue of this paper a number of pledges and purchases were published. There will be published in the next issue other subscriptions and purchases. If your name does not appear where it should notify us and we will make correction.
